Yanks Pushed Back From Kum River by New Red Attacks

North Koreans Seek to Drive Wedge in South

Hear Heavy Fighting Is Raging in Sector

LATE BULLETIN

Tokyo, July 15—(AP)—American Kum river defenders were forced back tonight by Communists from North Korea.

The entire left (west) flank gave way before infiltrating Reds. The Communists came in dressed as U. S. soldiers and civilians.

U. S. personnel losses were small as compared to much heavier suffered by the Reds.

The North Koreans burst across the Kum river 20 miles northwest of Taejon during the day. Between 1,000 and 2,000 troops waded and splashed across the river to gain the foothold.

They fanned out fast. The Reds were well equipped.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tokyo, July 15 —(AP)— An Army spokesman in Korea said tonight the American left flank had been pushed back from the Kum river to a new position by attacking Communists.

The advanced headquarters spokesman said the U. S. troops were holding firm at the center northwest of Taejon, but had been moved back generally west, somewhat from Taejon, the emergency capital.

Northward, midway to Chongju, 50 miles from Taejon, South Korean forces gave some ground.

The spokesman said no Red tanks had been seen south of the river. But several were seen on two north-south roads west of Taejon.

Some Red soldiers were seen advancing under heavy mortar fire, Associated Press Correspondent William R. Moore at advanced headquarters said in a dispatch timed at 10:52 p.m. (6:52 a.m. CST).

Moore said the Red self propelled 76 millimeter guns were believed to have been brought into use.

Earlier Moore had reported from Korea the Americans had stabilized their positions near the Kum river, grabbed by the Communists earlier in the day.

Four Red tanks were destroyed attempting ferry crossings of the river. As far as was known no tanks had crossed the shallow stream.

Reds Drive Wedge

The Communists apparently were trying to drive a wedge between the American right flank and South Korean troops defending a sector 10 miles south of Chongju.

Heavy fighting raged in that

Widow Sues NBC, William Powell For Five Million

New York, July 15 —(AP)— Actor William Powell, the National Broadcasting Co. and four others were sued for $5,000,000 yesterday by the widow of the late Clarence Day, author of "Life With Father" and its sequels.

Mrs. Katherine B. Day of Truro, Mass., the plaintiff, claimed that NBC's program, "My Mother's Husband," with Powell as leading man, infringes on the Day copyrights. The suit was filed in federal court.

She also asked a restraining order to stop the show, now broadcast on Sunday night.

Powell played the leading role in the movie version of "Life With Father."

Can of Perfumed Water Will Kill Those Japanese Beetles

"A can of perfumed water" was the answer today to the question of killing the Japanese beetles currently destroying Dixon rose gardens.

According to Harold Cook, a local florist, sweetened water in a large-bottomed, narrow-topped can attracts the insects. Once they are in, they can be removed and destroyed.

Poisons in the water are not considered safe because of birds and animals.

Beetles' Weakness

The fundamental characteristic of the beetle is its weakness for anything fragrant, hence its record for ruining plots of rose gardens.

Cook said the Chicago park district and the U. S. Department of Agriculture have used the method with some success.

Violations of the severe restrictions on bringing plants into the country that might be carrying the beetle have brought on the problem.

Watch for Signs

Although the beetle is harmless in its early stage, it will devour plant roots before it reaches adulthood. Wilting and dying roses—or any fragrant flower may be a sign the larvae of the beetle are in the soil.

The best early remedy is to spray the soil with arsenate of lead or to inject carbon bisulphide.

At the end of its life cycle, the Japanese beetle has a shell so hard birds won't touch it. Spraying with lead arsenate is too dangerous, since it often poisons the food in the garden.

L. G. Rorer, Patient At Hospital Here

Leonard G. Rorer, president and treasurer of the Dixon Theatre Co., 624 Fellows, is a patient at the KSB hospital. Mr. Rorer suffered a heart attack. It was reported at KSB today that Mr. Rorer spent "a comfortable night."

Friends of Mr. Rorer advised The Telegraph that the theatre operator "is a very sick man".

Circuit Court Foes on Same Side -- Briefly

State's Attorney Morey C. Pires and Robert L. Bracken, rivals for the circuit judgeship to be open when Circuit Judge George C. Dixon retires, found themselves on the same side today in the case of Russell Gehant.

Gehant was convicted here in 1939 for the murder of Molie Tague and sentenced to 199 years imprisonment by the late Judge Harry Edwards.

Gehant has filed a petition for a post-conviction hearing (the same type of hearing Charles Skinner had here two months ago) and charged Bracken did not represent adequately at his original trial.

Now a prisoner at Menard, Gehant said he was deprived of his constitutional rights.

In an answer, Pires said it was through the efforts of Bracken that Gehant missed the electric chair.

Pires went on to say that Gehant pleaded guilty to murder and rape and that a different judge would not have handed down a lesser sentence.

Pires asked that Gehant's petition be denied.

Chicago Gas Prices Up 2½c Per Gallon

Chicago, July 14—(AP)—Chicago area consumers are feeling the gasoline price raise this week by at least three major oil companies. Filling stations are charging as much as two and a half cents a gallon more, since one and a half cent tank wagon price boost.

Cities Service Oil Company and the Texas Company yesterday announced a cent and a half increase in the wholesale price. Standard Oil of Indiana put the same increase into effect a day earlier.

Prices to dealers are 20 cents a gallon for regular, 23½ cents for ethyl, with two cents a gallon rebate to users of more than 1,000 gallons a month.

Retail prices may vary from station to station.

Army Offices Remain Open Over Weekend

Enlistments Down In 13 State Area

Chicago, July 15—(AP)—Fifth Army recruiting offices will stay open today and tomorrow because of "disappointing results" in an appeal for volunteers.

Lt. Gen. Stephen J. Chamberlin, Fifth Army commanding general, yesterday ordered that offices in all 13 states of the Fifth army area stay open over the weekend.

The Fifth Army area comprises Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, Iowa, Wyoming, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Minnesota. The recruiting service handles both army and Air Force enlistments.

Only 226 Volunteers

Gen. Chamberlin said only 226 volunteers enlisted in nine large cosmopolitan areas totalling 8,500,000 population during the first three days of this week.

He said Army centers are prepared to handle volunteers at present, but are not ready to receive and train the larger numbers of men expected through the draft.

"This is a problem the Army is trying to remedy to be prepared for the influx of draftees in the fall," he said.

Shortly before the general issued his order, Illinois draft offi-

GET READY, GIRLS

Washington, July 15—(AP)—Selective Service has been thinking—but that's all—about drafting women.

It would require an emergency with the nation needing "about all the people it's got," and a change in the present draft law, however, the Selective Service director says.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey revealed in a radio broadcast last night that "quite a little planning" has been done with the idea that draft boards might have to register women eventually.

Nurses in particular were sought by the armed services during World War II.

Evangeline Booth Is Near Death at Home

Hartsdale, N. Y., July 15—(AP)—General Evangeline Booth, retired commander of the Salvation Army who is near death at her home here, spent the night in a coma with her condition unchanged.

Attending doctors said she might die at any moment or live for several days. She has been ill for more than a year.

Her father, General William Booth, was the founder and lifetime chief of the Salvation Army.

Senator Knowland's Mother Dead in West

Oakland, Calif., July 15—(AP)—Mrs. Joseph R. Knowland, Sr., wife of the publisher of the Oakland Tribune and mother of U. S. Senator William F. Knowland, died yesterday after a brief illness.

She was 62.

Lee County Courthouse Has Its 50th Anniversary Monday

Monday marks the anniversaries of two incidents in Dixon's 120-year history — the laying of the cornerstone for the Lee county courthouse and a speech on the courthouse lawn by Abraham Lincoln.

Precisely 50 years ago the grand master of the Masons of Illinois laid the cornerstone for what is now Lee county's courthouse.

All those who participated actively in the ceremony are now dead. They were James H. Thompson, grand marshal; Dr. George W. I. Brown, Capt. Charles E. Frisby, and Capt. G. G. Messer, all aides.

Judge John D. Crabtree presided while U. S. District Judge Christian C. Kolnsaat gave the principal address.

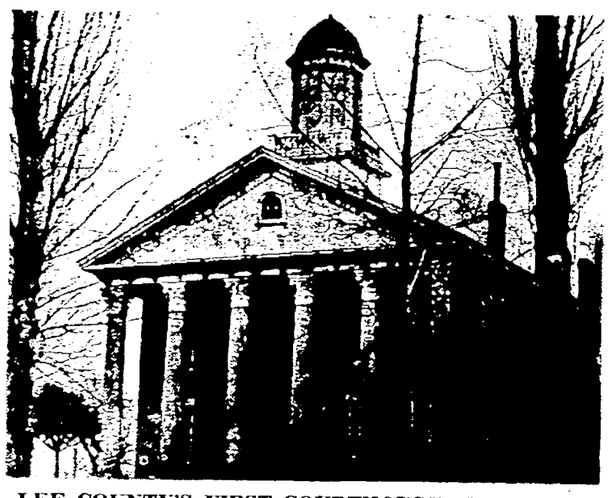
In the same year, the old courthouse, built in 1839, had been torn down.

Back on the July 17 of 1856 Abraham Lincoln, four years before he "came out of the wilderness" to assume the presidency of the United United States, gave a campaign speech on the courthouse lawn in support of John C. Fremont.

Fremont ran against James Buchanan for the presidency and lost.

The Old and the New!

LEE COUNTY'S COURTHOUSE—if we count as its birth date the laying of its cornerstone—will be 50 years old Monday, July 17. Originally the cupola was a shining copper. Now it's a moldy green.



LEE COUNTY'S FIRST COURTHOUSE after the addition of columns. The original structure was built in 1839—for $6,800. The contractor, however, Samuel M. Bowman, received an additional $450 for work not included in the specifications. It was in front of this courthouse that Abraham Lincoln once supported John C. Fremont against James Buchanan for the presidency of the United States. The building was torn down in 1900 to make way for the current structure.

Spurlin's Auto 'Blocked'; Costs Truck Driver $25

It cost a truck driver $25 Friday to put a block on the car of Amboy's football coach, Orval Spurlin, on route 30 two miles west of route 26.

Justice Sterling W. Schrock fined James C. Collette, 29, Akron, Ohio, after he pleaded guilty to State's Attorney Morey C. Pires' charges of reckless driving.

According to the charge, Collette was passing an empty transport truck when he pushed Spurlin's car, coming from the opposite direction, off the road.

Collette was arrested by state police.

Two War Correspondents Given 'Bounce'; Censorship Underway?

Tokyo, July 15—(AP)—U. S. army authorities today abruptly told Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert and United Press Correspondent Peter Kalischer that they could not return to the South Korean war.

Lambert, wearing combat fatigues, was notified as he was about to board a bus at the start of a return trip to the far front in Korea. He had been here briefly on leave.

No explanation was given to him at the time. He was told merely that he could not make the trip.

Later, Col. M. P. Echols, General MacArthur's public information officer, told the Associated Press Bureau here that some of Lambert's dispatches had been objectionable because "they gave aid and comfort to the enemy."

St. Louis Racket Bosses Called in By Crime Probers

St. Louis, July 15—(AP)—The senate crime investigating committee has begun issuing subpoenas for persons it will question on its visit to St. Louis next Tuesday.

The Globe-Democrat reported subpoenas have been issued for at least 15 persons, including Gregory E. Moore, one of the operators of the Hyde Park club of Venice, Ill., closed by a recent raid conducted by Illinois state police.

Joseph L. Mathews, former St. Louis detective sergeant, announced he had received one of the subpoenas. Mathews was a center of controversy last year when he asked the St. Louis police board to put him back on the force.

Mathews said he will be glad to testify, but he protested he was being accused of many things by "a group of ghosts, people who haven't the courage to come forward and identify themselves."

Red Armies Mass in Manchuria, Report

Hong Kong, July 15—(AP) — Pro-Nationalist newspapers here today asserted the entire fourth field army of Communist China has been ordered moved to Manchuria next to the Korean war zone—by the end of July.

Joseph Gussman Pays $10 Speeding Fine

Joseph Gussman, 26, for whom police had no address, was fined $10 and costs for speeding Friday by Justice Sterling W. Schrock.

He was arrested by Officer Fred Sanford for doing 45 miles an hour on W. Fourth street. Police Chief Harry Fischer signed the complaint.

Franklin Grove Man Being Sued for $259

A Rochelle Equipment company named a Franklin Grove farmer in a $259 suit filed today with Circuit Clerk John O. Shaulis Jr.

According to the complaint, Joseph J. Schauff contracted for farm equipment in the spring of 1948 and never paid the bill.

President to Decide Extent Of War Effort

National Guard to Get Call Soon, Hint

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, July 15—(AP)—President Truman is expected to decide soon to what degree American resources must be mobilized to deal with the Korean crisis.

Decisions respecting future military strength will be speeded by the return today from the Far East of Generals J. Lawton Collins and Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Army and Air Force chiefs of staff.

They conferred with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the United Nations commander in Korea, and are presumably bringing his latest estimates of what the situation requires.

Expect Guard Call

Collins and Vandenberg were expected to report immediately to Secretary of Defense Johnson and Mr. Truman. Recommendations from the Pentagon to the White House on calling up some National Guard and organized reserve units may follow shortly.

Meanwhile the State Department is urging the White House to move quickly on marshalling more of the nation's industrial resources — both to bolster the Korean campaign for the long pull and to strengthen America's total military power against the possibility of other crisis.

The Defense Department is reported planning a greatly expanded military program to accomplish the same purposes.

Evidence that action along these lines may be forthcoming promptly came from two members of congress.

To Ask 6 Billions?

Senator Robertson (D-Va) told the senate yesterday the administration may ask for an additional $6,000,000,000, partly to finance operations in Korea and partly to reinforce the country's military might generally. While some administration circles said the request won't run that high, the figure was expected to be fairly substantial.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) told reporters he had been assured by administration officials that some National Guard men and some reservists will be called into the armed forces soon.

HENDRICKSON ON WAY

Another Dixonite presumably moved toward the Korean war when units of the 2nd Infantry were shipped out Friday night from Ft. Lewis, Wash.

He's Cpl. Robert Hendrickson, the son of Mrs. Albert Pickwell, 214 Madison avenue.

Cpl. Hendrickson, a 1948 graduate of Oregon high school, has been in the army 18 months.

Major Readies Barrel For Niagara Plunge

Niagara Falls, One., July 15 —(AP)—Major Lloyd Hill made his last preparations today for a plunge over Niagara Falls in an 11-foot long steel barrel.

The 32-year-old Canadian veteran of World War two plans to shove off from an undisclosed point above the Canadian, or Horseshoe, Falls shortly after 12 noon (CST), tomorrow.

Three Dixonites Get Marriage Licenses

County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock issued two marriage licenses today, with three of the parties being Dixonites.

The local pair was James Daniel Triplett, 21, and Miss Bobby Louise Brice, 18. The second license went to George E. Pitzer, 23, Dixon, and Miss Frances L. Otto, 18, Eldena.

Ag Department Asks Farmers For Extra--Large Wheat Crop

Washington, July 15—(AP)—The Agriculture Department has called on farmers to produce an extra-large wheat crop next year, just to be on the "safe" side. The department obviously had the Korean crisis in mind, although it didn't say so.

The agency announced yesterday the nation's 1951 wheat production goal will be 1,150,000,000 bushels—193,000,000 more than the crop expected this year, and 1[illegible],000,000 bushels greater than the average crop for the years 1[illegible] to 1948.

Without referring specifically to the international situation, the announcement said the government "would rather have a little more wheat than may be needed than to be caught with any supply shortage at any time."

More wheat, it said, would assure a "safe" margin for U. S. food needs, for possible increases in exports, and for feed which in turn could be used to boost meat, milk and poultry yields.

Things We Eat, Wear, Use Now on the Rise, Report

Washington, July 15—(AP)—Using the Korean war as a springboard, prices are rising on many things people eat, wear or use.

This was demonstrated yesterday by a weekly report from the Bureau of Labor which showed virtually all wholesale prices headed upward. Retail prices generally trail wholesale prices by only a few days.

The report followed by one day President Truman's news conference statement that there is no shortage of food in sight, no excuse for hoarding and no prospect of rationing.

The question of possible home-front mobilization was discussed by Truman and his cabinet yesterday. The president indicated at his news conference this week that he had no immediate intention of asking for emergency authority to establish price and wage controls.

The Bureau of Labor statistics said wholesale prices climbed on the average 1.8 per cent in the seven days ending Tuesday. The index stood at 161.8, which means 61.8 per cent higher than the 1926 average. A year ago it was 154. The peak was 170.3 in August, 1948.

Corn, hogs, cotton and cocoa beans were pace setters in the new climb.

Sen. Lucas in Demand for Censorship, Home, Abroad

Washington, July 15—(AP)—Congress eyed internal and military security problems today in the light of the Korean fighting.

Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, called for voluntary, but complete, censorship of troop movements at home and abroad.

He suggested in an interview that Gen. Douglas MacArthur be authorized by the president to clamp military censorship on front line developments vitally affecting American tactical and strategic moves.

'Criminal' Says Lucas

Lucas told the senate yesterday that it was "almost criminal" the way reports are going out on "where our troops are going and how."

The question of security at home also raised concern on Capitol Hill.

Two Democratic senators—Eastland of Mississippi and Maybank of South Carolina—joined Republicans in an effort to force senate action on a bill requiring registration of Communist party members.

If Uncle Sam Puts You in Uniform, Here Is the Dope on Pay Grades, Allowances

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, July 15 —(AP)— Pay in all branches of the armed services—Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines—is the same for each grade. The Army will be used as an example here.

The enlisted grades are as follows, with the minimum and maximum pay for each grade, depending upon the length of service:

Recruit—$75 a month, recruit, after four months—$80, when he becomes a private, in about six months—$82.50; corporal—$117.50 to $191; sergeant $139.65 to $227; first class sergeant—$169.05 to $249; master sergeant—$198.45 to $294.

Tough on Some

Anyone below the rank of corporal is considered to have no dependents, so he gets nothing for dependents. If, for some reason, the government fails to provide him with lodgings, he gets $45 extra for lodgings for himself.

A corporal with less than seven years' experience also is considered to have no dependents and gets only his flat pay, unless the government doesn't provide him with lodgings. Then he gets $45 extra.

For a sergeant, sergeant first class, and master sergeant—no matter how much or little period of service—and for a corporal with seven or more years' experience, this is what happens:

If he has no dependents and the government doesn't give him living quarters, he gets $45 extra for his lodgings.

If he has dependents but the government provides him and them with living quarters, he gets only his flat pay. But—

If the government doesn't provide his dependents, such as a wife, with living quarters, he gets $67.50 extra.

Different Before

That's all he gets for dependents, no matter how many he has. It used to be different. During the war and until Oct. 1, 1949, when congress changed the law, this is what happened:

Any enlisted man—that is below the rank of commissioned officer, such as second lieutenant—got this deal:

If he had a wife and set aside $22 a month for her out of his pay, the government added $28 to it, thus giving her a total of $50.

If he had children dependent on him, the government also gave the first child $30 a month, and each additional child $20.

There were additional benefits for dependent parents and other close relatives.

They're Wiped Out

All these contributions were wiped out for anyone joining after Oct. 1, 1949.

So any man going into the Army now—whether he volunteers or is drafted—gets none of that wartime dependency allotment.

As pointed out: Corporals with seven years' experience and the three higher grades of non-commissioned officers get living quarter allowance for dependents.

The point is: Any one joining up in the lower ranks now gets absolutely nothing for dependents. He's considered to have none.

It is safe to say that under selective service regulations at this time no one will be drafted if he has dependents. As for volunteers in the lower grades: the armed forces don't want them at this time if they have dependents.

May Call Guard

But—the government may call the National Guard to duty. Since the guard is made up of civilians, many of whom have dependents, calling some of them to active duty will be a hardship on them.

For that reason, if the Guard is called up—or if it becomes necessary to expand the draft to take men with dependents—congress is pretty certain to restore quickly the wartime benefits for dependents.

Commissioned officers—from the grade of second lieutenant up to and including generals—got no government allowance for dependents during the war and do not get them now.

But commissioned officers, in addition to their pay, get $21 extra a month for food (subsistence) if unmarried and $42 if married. All grades get the same.

They also get money for living quarters. It ranged from $60 a month for a second lieutenant, if unmarried, and $75 if married, to $120 a month for a general's lodgings if he has no dependents to $150 if he has.

No Need for Polio Panic If We Use Little Common Sense

Whenever poliomyelitis strikes a community the health department finds itself faced with two epidemics—one of polio, the other of hysteria. Polio is a serious disease and proper precautions are essential. But the annual summer scare is both needless and harmful, writes Clive Howard in a national magazine article "Let's Avoid Polio Panic."

Today thousands of parents and children suffer from polio jitters which gradually are changing America's pattern of summertime living without affecting polio one way or the other, the author warns. Not only are health officers frequently forced to adopt measures which they realize will have little if any effect in controlling the disease, but must neglect public-health problems of far greater importance.

Must Face Facts

We need to face the fact, experts told Howard, that polio diagnosis is now so efficient that we are going to have what will seem a lot of polio almost every season. We need to learn to live with this fact.

One major cause of polio panic is the often-heard statement that "polio is getting commoner." However, there is good reason to believe that this is not true. Polio is NOT commoner but IS diagnosed as such and oftener reported to authorities than it used to be.

For instance, the article points out, in the heavy epidemic year of 1946 only the severe paralytic cases were diagnosed and reported and probably some of those went unnoticed. Today reports are made of thousands of light attacks—headache, ill-feeling, fever and the like. Moreover, the discovery in 1948 of a mock polio virus makes "epidemic" figures more uncertain than ever.

Real Threat Diminishes

The real threat of polio as against polio panic also diminishes when it is compared with other diseases. In 1946—the most recent heavy polio year for which complete figures exist—polio was responsible for 1,845 deaths. It ranked forty-second on the list of leading causes of death.

Not only does polio panic curtail the efficient operation of health departments, but it seriously undermines the emotional stability of children. One doctor reported, "All the youngsters in our block are talking polio. Maybe we're creating twenty neurotics for every polio victim."

Replace Hysteria

How can we replace hysteria with useful and constructive action? Here are some rules, approved by the American Medical Association and the American Public Health Association, to serve as a guide for parents and health officials:

Do not close schools unless children are transported to them by bus from widely separated areas. Closing school has never affected polio and has often caused panic.

Do not close fairs, circuses, theaters, swimming pools or beaches if they are properly run. But use common sense in discouraging children's attendance. Swimming will not cause polio but close contact with swarms of other children during an epidemic may.

Do not close summer camps in areas where there is no polio outbreak. But do not admit children from communities where polio has broken out.

Do not try to fight polio by spraying with DDT. There is no reliable evidence that polio is spread by insects, water, food or sewage.

Do keep both public and doctors well and sensibly informed of the extent of the disease.

Do postpone nonemergency tonsillectomies and tooth extractions during polio outbreaks. Do avoid unnecessary travel and visiting then.

Do protect children when they have been exposed to polio from violent exercise, overfatigue and chilling.

Do protect children during an epidemic against unnecessary contact with persons other than their usual associates.

Do not upset the usual routine of children in a household or of adults in their occupations. This is likely to cause more trouble than good.

Purchases of Homes Fall; Building Is Up

Washington, July 15 (AP) — Although 1949 set a record in new home construction starts, purchases of houses fell below the mark of earlier post-war years, the Federal Reserve Board reported today.

Only 1,600,000 houses were bought last year compared with more than 2,000,000 in each of the previous post-war years, the board said in releasing data obtained by a sampling survey early this year.

Korea Gives Guage of Red Organization

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

President Truman speaks for many when he says Americans never have had the tar licked out of them, and predicts that the Korean Communists will be driven back.

However, don't overlook that many a ring champ takes a terrible beating in defending his title. That's about what has been happening to GI Joe in South Korea as he has battled against heavy odds

There is no reason to doubt we shall win in the long run, but we already have learned by tough experience that we are up against a well organized and powerful fighting force And in this fact a guage to measure the strength of other Red military machines in the great Asiatic theatre

Reds Well Equipped

Soviet led Asiatic Communism has at its call many millions of trained and equipped soldiers, a lot of whom are seasoned veterans First to mind, of course, come Manchuria and China with almost limitless man-power To these must be added Russia's Siberian armies. And Red forces long have been fighting in Indonesia and Malaya.

All these troops could be thrown into action should Asia unhappily prove to be the major battleground between the two ideological worlds And in this sense Korea may be the proving-ground on which we shall learn what the future holds for democracy.

Already the western world is confronted with what may be to many a disconcerting discovery that the west has no exclusive claim to skill at arms Perhaps more to the point, Korea is demonstrating that Russia over a long period has been doing a very thorough job of organizing and training its satellite fighting forces

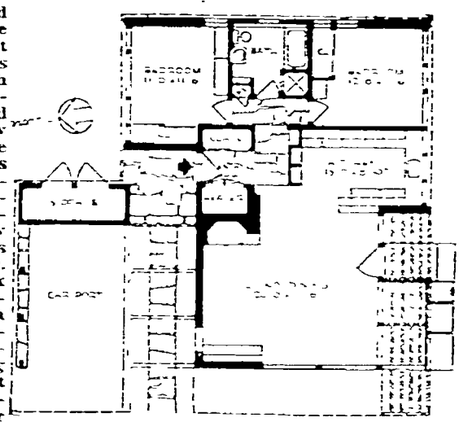
Call on Others

With a decisive battle boiling up in the Kum river area of South Korea, Washington is said to have been quietly informing other United Nations members that their ground forces would be welcomed in Korea And yesterday U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie called on all members who have supported the pledge to stop the Red aggression to send effective combat forces to aid in the fighting He stressed ground forces

Britain of course already is fighting Communist forces in Malaya; and France long has had a sizable war on her hands in Indo China Naturally the western powers must guard against being lured into massing their forces in the Far East, thereby weakening their power in other parts of the world.

The area of Louisiana has been increased by 50 square miles in 100 years by Mississippi river silt deposits

Clever Ideas Give Style, Reduce Cost



Several thousand dollars were saved in the cost of building this house through ingenious planning Designed for the family who likes to live informally, this attractive two-bedroom ranch-type house incorporates many luxury features for under $13,000. The large 20'x 17'6" living-dining-room has a fireplace, 6 windows with 3 exposures, assuring maximum light and good ventilation. The cedar wood walls and ceiling blend well with any decor. A spacious, open-faced kitchen 15'x8'10' with electric dishwasher, refrigerator, washing machine and garbage disposal unit is separated from the living room by a glass partition. This open planning creates an effect of greater space. The master bedroom is 12'8"x11'6": has 4 windows, an oversized closet, built-in wall and floor cabinets and dressing table. The 11'x11'6" guest room has 4 windows and a large closet. Heat is supplied by a radiant hot water system with copper coils in the floor. Each room has a separate valve control to regulate room temperature. Kencork flooring in random shades adds smartness to the interior plus insulation value that helps to make the house cooler in summer, warmer in winter. Exterior walls are a combination of cinder block and cedar boarding. Roof is made of 3-ply tar and gravel. A 261 square foot California terrace and entrance porch enhances the beauty of the exterior. An unusual idea is the outside storage room which is to the rear of the car port.

Mobilization of Home Front Gets Truman Attention

Washington, July 15 (AP) — President Truman explored with his cabinet today the whole range of possible home-front mobilization measures but cabinet officers said no decisions were reached

There was also a discussion of the military outlook

Gen Omar Bradley chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, gave a briefing on the military situation

None of the cabinet officers who talked with reporters after the 45 minute meeting would say what Bradley had told them

They also declined to say what specific home front measures were discussed but said the talks covered the whole range

In congress, any idea of giving Mr Truman standby authority to impose economic controls ran into flat opposition from Senator Taft (R Ohio)

Cramp in Shoulder End's Shirley's Try For 18 Mile Swim

Ramsgate Eng July 15 (AP) — A shoulder cramp halted Shirley May France's first long training swim yesterday for her 1950 English channel crossing attempt.

The 17 - year - old Somerset Mass high school girl set out from Dover to make an 18-mile swim to Ramsgate a resort town down the coast She was pulled out of the water four miles from her goal

Shirley May failed in her first attempt, last September to make the 19 mile swim from Calais, France to Dover

Europe Thinks United States To Win in End

By JOHN RODERICK

London, July 15 (AP) — From Scandinavia to the Mediterranean, non-Communist western Europeans reacted with the same phrase today to American setbacks in Korea. It was "give them time."

Outside those circles obedient to Moscow, the feeling among both press and public was that, despite heavy odds, the American GI's would pull out of the hole

Some Have Doubts

There were, however, some doubts and some criticisms

In Norway and Finland, both neighbors of Russia, the man in the street wondered out loud whether the needed reinforcements of men and material would be too little and too late Some Finns found the state of U. S. preparedness in the Pacific a chilling eye opener They were impressed with the apparent military ability of the North Koreans.

Everywhere, in conversations and in the press the fact most underscored was the enormity of the odds against which the Americans were fighting

Il Momento Critical

Almost the only sharp non-Communist criticism of America's Korean effort came from Rome's moderate, pro government Il Momento

"The fact alone that America has to half mobilize to oppose a semi-barbarian state a country that is the last (least powerful) of the Soviet satellites, will mean for America a loss of prestige which a late and painfully secured victory will not be able to regain," it wrote

The non-Communist press in France, while sympathizing with the Americans, has made little comment The conservative Le Monde saw in the battle the question of the prestige of two flags—the American and that of the United Nations

Sees Bad News

The London Daily Express warned that the news from Korea might continue bad for another 90 days but predicted eventual victory

Another leading London newspaper, the liberal News Chronicle warned "this is our fight too

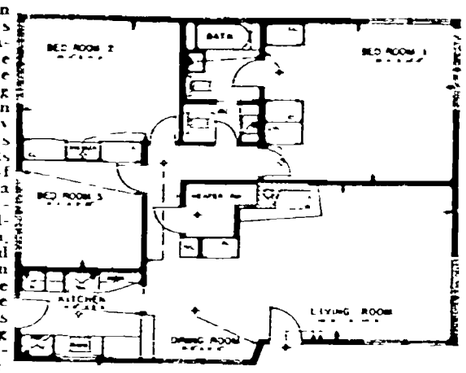
West German editorials emphasized that the Americans were outnumbered and outgunned

Both press and public in the Netherlands took a wait and see attitude but confidence was expressed in the eventual success of American arms.

Bill to Outlaw Rail Strikes Is Shelved

Washington July 15 (AP) — The senate labor committee yesterday shelved a bill to outlaw rail strikes The 10 to 1 vote—with only Senator Donnel (R-Mo) the bill's sponsor, voting to send it to the senate for debate—confirmed a recommendation made by a sub-committee last week.

Features of Modern and Conventional



Modern open planning has given this spacious ranch-style home the same number of living areas found in many two-story homes. Cost is about $15,000. Its 1,200 sq ft of space includes a large living-room, three bedrooms, duo-bath, fully-equipped modern kitchen and attractive dining area The living-room has wood-burning fireplace, distinctive corner picture window and built-in guest coat closet It opens into the cheerful dining area located in a bright corner between living room and kitchen. Fitted with built-in china cabinet, it accommodates a full sized dining table and chairs. The 14'4"x13'4" master bedroom has 2 full 2 compartment closets and a linen closet in the hall approach. Two persons may occupy the duo-bath-and-powder-room in complete privacy. The 3 bedrooms all open into an L-shaped hall, which also gives access to the room housing the heating unit A radiant oil heating system with hot water coils embedded in the floors provides winter comfort When walls and ceilings are fully insulated with mineral wool adequate winter heat can be maintained by a smaller heating unit, with consequent saving in fuel costs. The mineral wool also bars summer heat, making interiors up to 15 degrees cooler in hot weather. Exterior walls are of beveled wood siding roof of stained cedar shingles An attractive trellis connects the house architecturally with the garage.

Western Union Stops Service To Bookies

St. Louis July 15 (AP) — At the request of Illinois authorities, the Western Union Telegraph Co has stopped service to 29 establishments in nearby Illinois that were subscribing to a horse racing news service

The discontinuance of service was ordered by Harry E Vermillion, Western Union's St. Louis superintendent

He said he received notices yesterday signed by Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Attorney General Ivan Elliott of Illinois demanding that the service be denied St Clair and Madison county customers of Pioneer News Service, St Louis race news distributing firm

The notices also were signed by state's attorneys of the two counties

The notices said the telegraph facilities were being used for an illegal purpose A spokesman for Western Union said discontinuance of service was mandatory under federal communications commissions tariffs" Such action is required, he said when the company receives notice from the proper authority that its facilities are being used illegally

Marine Combat Vets To Sail for War Zone

San Diego, Calif July 15 (AP) Marines of the fifth regiment, many of them battle-toughened veterans of World War II, are all set to sail for the Korean war zone

They embarked aboard the transport Henrice yesterday as the first Marine division completed loading operations

Two other transports stood by to take on more troops and at the naval air station [illegible] Carrier Badoeng Strait [illegible] completing the loading of planes of the first Marine air wing [illegible] El Toro, Calif

All the ships will form [illegible] convoy before heading for the Orient

U. S. to Carry Burden of Korean War

Battlefront reports describing the American fighting in Korea did not make cheerful news. The slogging retreat recalled the bitter days of Bataan in the Philippines at the start of World war II.

But General MacArthur has assured Washington that the situation is not critical. So our military leaders are not deeply troubled at the ground lost and the reverses suffered by U. S. forces. They are confident we can throw back the North Korean invaders beyond their boundary at the 38th parallel.

The rather unhappy beginning for the Americans emphasizes, however, that this task is not one to be accomplished off-handedly with a mild show of strength. The North Korean Reds are well trained and well equipped. Their 150 to 160 tanks were decisive in the early advances. Their field tactics reflect expert schooling from their masters in Moscow.

In any military action so fluid as the Korean war has been thus far, the first goal of the opposing force must be to establish a solid line, to check the headlong rush of the aggressors. That is not an easy thing under the circumstances which prevailed in South Korea.

The South Korean army was ill-equipped to combat the North Koreans' armor. Though U. S. military advisers rated the South Koreans' morale and fighting qualities high, they showed a marked tendency to fold up when confronted by tanks or the threat of tanks.

With the men and equipment America could put into the fight immediately, there could have been no great hope of halting the Reds from the moment contact was made. Our forces were small. Our jet fighters were too fast for tree-level attacks on enemy columns and installations. The B-29 is a big target bomber and consequently out of place as a tactical weapon against bridges and gun emplacements.

Time and the over-water movement of men and materials will change all this. As a defense line becomes stabilized across the Korean peninsula, we will begin the tedious but necessary building up of strength behind that front.

Eventually the moment will come when we will have sufficient power to strike back in real force, to roll the invaders back and restore South Korea to its rightful rulers.

Apparently we cannot expect too much help from the South Koreans themselves in this operation. It will have to be largely an American show. But we shall see it through nevertheless. For the price of failure—open invitation to further Red aggression—a greater than any cost that could arise from the Korean war even should that conflict stretch out over many painful months.

Naturally we should ask other members of the United Nations for whatever aid they can give, but we must recognize that some countries, like Britain and France, cannot extend much help without dangerously weakening the defense against Communism at other vital points. Basically, the job is ours.

Abundant Living

By
E. STANLEY JONES

Gal. 6:7—8; I John 4:7; Col. 2:19

THE KINGDOM OF GOD AND HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS

The Kingdom of God is among you! Note the ways men try to get along with one another: (1) Some try to dominate others; (2) some are aloof from others, (3) some are indifferent to others, (4) some work with others, (5) some work with and for others.

Which one of these attitudes will life approve? Suppose you take the first and try to dominate others in one way or another—what happens? The relationships break down and get snarled up. One man summed this up rather sadly when he said: "In the home I tried to be IT, and I found my wife opposite." The type of action determined the reaction. A dictator tries to conquer the world and finds an initial success; then he inevitably has to meet a combination of the world against him—he goes down. Like produces like. "They that take the sword shall perish with the sword." "Be not deceived, God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." "Be not deceived" over initial successes in domination, for "God is not mocked"—the nature of reality is against you and in the end will break you. "He that soweth to his flesh" the flesh of domination, "shall of the flesh reap corruption"—the situation and you will be corrupted, will deteriorate, will go to pieces and will collapse. The nature of reality foredooms the attempt.

But "he that soweth to the Spirit" aligns himself with the eternal realities, "shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting": the sum total of reality will back you; you will have the power of survival, for you are living with and not against the grain of the universe. You reap an everlasting way to live—eternal life.

Former Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle, Jr., says, "No group of human beings, however implemented, has been able to challenge the great Design." The great design is the Great Design—the Kingdom of God. Live according to it, and you live; go against it, and you perish.

Thou Designer of the Great Design, we thank Thee that our hearts are set upon the Great Design, to fit into it, to mold our lives by it, to be fully surrendered to its purposes, and thus to live and live abundantly. Amen.

GI Insurance Payments Overlap; $230,000,000 Still Remain Unpaid

Payment of first GI insurance dividend is going to run into payments of the second one, which will start the first of 1951. There are still about $230,000,000 as yet undistributed in the first payment. The unpaid cases involve policies with lost records. The second dividend which will continue into the future as long as the life of a policy, will go only to those veterans who have kept their GI insurance active.

Low Cost of World Parliament

U. S. contribution to the United Nations now costs every American citizens about 10 cents a year. Of this sum, three cents goes to the Economic and Social Council, two cents apiece for the Security Council and general expenses, one cent apiece for the General Assembly and public information. The Remaining cent covers the World Court, Trusteeship Council and public administration.

Lausche Accommodating

Governor Lausche says now that his Governor's Conference statement about Senator Taft and his Democratic opponent, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, was all a mistake. The Ohio governor says reporters at White Sulphur Springs kept pestering him for an interview. Merely to accomodate them he agreed to hold a press conference. He didn't intend to say anything startling about the Ohio senatorial candidates, one way or the other.

Aye! There's the Rub-ber

Increased demand for rubber may get U. S. out of a tough hole on Brazil, where controversy over coffee prices has strained relations. During the last war, U. S. Rubber Development Corp., an RFC subsidiary, encouraged Brazilians to grow a lot of natural rubber.

At the end of the war, U. S. cut buying from Brazil because price was higher, quality lower and demand less. This made the Amazon valley planters sore. Now they're hoping business may pick up again.

Win the War in Washington

One reason some congressmen haven't wanted to adjourn the present session too soon is that they figure it's good enough campaign strategy to "stay in Washington to win the war and save the country." It also saves campaign expense for candidates up for re-election. And it saves wear and tear of campaigning during the dog days, while their opponents talk themselves out.

Promotions Are in Order--Fast

The parkway around Haines Point, in Washington was recently rechristened "Ohio Drive." Big idea was to give the Buckeye state its rightful reprensentation by having a District of Columbia avenue named after it. Ohio was the only one of the 48 states not so honored, but now Ohioans visiting the capital can find and drive on "their" street with its fine view of the Potomac.

Honor guest at the Ohio Drive dedication was Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman. Sen Robert A. Taft was there, too, and quite a list of Ohio notables. In a slip of the tongue, Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins referred to Mr. Chapman as "Secretary of agriculture."

Ohio Gov. Frank Lausche then referred to him as "Secretary of State." As photographers took their final shot of Secretary Chapman, one of them said, "Thank you, Mr. President." Cracked the grinning Chapman, "Fastest set of promotions I ever had in my life."

Peace or War: Housing Problem

Frank W. Cortright, executive vice president of National Association of Home Builders, haes told his members: "In event of all-out war, no further construction could be started, but houses under way would probably be completed on a minimum basis.

"Materials would be allocated as in World War II. In event of bombing, temporary sharing of all existing facilities would be required and elaborate provision would be made for temporary shelter . . . trailers, demountables and even tent cities."

Pre-Fab Business May Rise

In this came connection, outlook for pre-fabricated housing may pick up. It isn't that housing is much cheaper, or that it can be produced with less man-hours of labor.

But it can be produced centrally, under shelter, with power tools, by rapid mass production and at all seasons of the year. And it is highly mobile, which is most important.

Oil on Troubled Waters

One of those tremendously wealthy Texas oilmen came to Washington not long ago to see his congressman and protest against the government's allowing so much foreign-produced oil to come into the country. It was ruining him, the oilman complained.

Instead of pointing out that his constituent was reported to be making a million dollars a year or more, and didn't seem to be suffering, the congressman—who doesn't want his name used in connection with the story—merely said: "Don't you know that if the goverment puts a limit on the importation or foreign oil, it will be the first step towards government control of the oil industry?" The oil man thought this over for a moment, then got up and left.

For Medicinal Purposes Only

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe recently recommended that any small business loans should be made on an experimental basis, and test the reaction to his views his statementment was sent out to various individuals throughout the country.

A small banker in Mississippi sent him back, as an answer, the story of Old Man Gooch, owner of a distillery who died leaving his son, and only heir—and an arden prohibitionist—his business.

At first the son intended to wreck the distillery, but then remembering it was his sole source of income he decided to keep the business. To relieve his conscience he advertised with this slogan: "Even If It Is Good Medicine, It Is Bad Medicine; But If You Will Have It, Remember Old Gooch."

The banker concluded by saying that if the experiment, though good medicine and bad doctrine, must be had the place for it was in the Federal Reserve.

Simple Plays Net Results

By OSWALD JACOBY

"I don't agree with you at all," said Larceny Lou. "You don't have to make complicated plays to get unusual results. Very often the simplest play in the world will get you a very startling score."

Bridge players always listen to Larceny Lou's stories. It's hard to get him to tell one, but when he breaks down, he usually tells a good one.

"For example," continued Lou, "take a hand I played in the Winter Championships of 1948. The bidding wasn't very good, perhaps, since six hearts would have been much safer. However, practically everybody played it at six no trump to cash in on the higher trick value of a no trump contract.

"I had the West cards, and I opened the king of diamonds. Dummy won with the ace, and declarer then led a club to his ace. On this trick I dropped the jack of clubs.

"There wasn't anything to this play, of course. It's certainly not a complicated play—it's just a feeble attempt to deceive declarer. However, I couldn't think of anything better—and the play couldn't cost anything. For a simple play, it certainly had a remarkable effect.

"South stared at me for a long time, trying to decide if my play had been honest. He finally decided to gather some additional information to help him make up his mind. He therefore laid down the ace and king of spades.

"As you can see, my partner showed out on the second round of spades. (He discarded a heart). Since this marked me with five spades and since I had opened a presumably long diamond suit, South thought it quite likely that my jack of clubs had been an honest play. He couldn't tell that my real short suit was hearts rather than clubs.

"South therefore led a heart to dummy's ace and returned a club from dummy. When he finessed the nine of clubs from his hand, I won with the ten of clubs. We then took five diamond tricks, setting the slam 500 points.

"Now I don't know about you fellows, but I myself don't expect to set a slam contract five tricks. Not when that slam has been bid by a good player. And that unusual result was brought about by a very simple play. I'm sure you'll agree that there is nothing remarkable about dropping the jack of clubs."

Larceny Lou was quite right, of course. There was nothing complicated about dropping the jack of clubs, but it is the sort of play that we often forget to make. If Lou had dropped a small club on the first trick, declarer would have had no choice. He would have made his slam instead of going down five! The difference is very nearly 2000 points!

Q's and A's

Q—What does "candling" eggs mean?

A—It is a method of telling whether eggs are fresh without breaking them. It is used on practically all eggs before they reach the stores.

Q—What nationality was Hugo Grotius?

A—He was Dutch. His greatest work was "De Jure Belli et Pacis," published in 1625, a work which is regarded as the basis of modern international law.

Q—What is the world's most most active volcano?

A—Mauna Loa on the island of Hawaii. Mauna Loa has a twin volcano known as Mauna Kea. This is a little higher, but it is less bulky. The amount of material in its cone makes Mauna Loa rank also as the biggest volcano in the world.

Q—How fast can a gopher dig?

A—This little rodent, weighing at the outside about a pound, and rarely exceeding a foot in length even with his long tail included, is a digging fool. It has been estimated that in a good night's work in sandy soil a diligent gopher can dig a tunnel 300 feet long and one gopher high.

New Books at The Dixon Library

Library Summer Hours: Daily 10:00 to 8:00, except Sundays and holidays. Closed 1:00 Thursdays.

The Reluctant Landlord, by Scott Corbett. A G.I. still overseas, finds he is about to become a landlord, for in order to have a roof over their heads, his wife has bought an apartmnt house. Their bungling, their trials, fun and friendships, and their success, are all humorously told.

A Savage Gentleman, by Gerson, Noel B. A historical novel different from the usual type. This one is based on the French and Indian wars.

Johnny Texas, by Carol Hoff. This delightful book won the Wilcox and Follett award for juvenile literature. Johnny and his father, recently from Leipzig, loved the bigness and adventure of Texas, but mama was worried, especially when papa was serving in General Houston's army. All ends happily when the three accept the land of freedom as their own.

Air Conditioning and Refrigeration by Jennings & Lewis. The third edition of this practical book. It deals with refrigerating machinery, as well as the two subjects mentioned.

The American Historical Novel, by Ernest Erwin Leisy. Traces the development of American historical fiction from Colonial days to the present, and discusses it as a distinctly American phase of literature.

The Lincoln Encyclopedia compiled and edited by Archer H. Shaw. The written and spoken words of Lincoln with quotations arranged by subject. Good for read reference, and also gives a new concept of the man.

Son and Stranger, by David Demarest Lloyd. This is the story of a middle-aged couple who go to Europe to visit their son's grave. Stumbling on the fact that he had left a child and had wanted its birth kept a secret from them so that its life wouldn't be warped as his had been, the parents realize too late they had failed as father and mother.

The Tentacles, by Dana Lyon. The happiness of a beautiful bride is changed to astonishment and then terror when she and her husband go to live in the big home of his parents. An unusual plot, and good character study.

Comes the Comrade, by Alexander Orm. Lida, a young Polish refugee, and her Hungarian husband, welcome the liberation of Hungary by the Russians, but she soon encounters so many unpleasant things that life become a struggle for survival, until she is finally reunited with her husband.

Prevention Still Best Treatment for Burns

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Burns or scalds of the skin account for many deaths and serious or unsightly scars. Most of them could be prevented by a little caution. Also prompt and intelligent emergency treatment can often help to avoid the most dangerous effects of heat.

The damage done depends upon the surface involved, the heat of the object causing the injury, and the length of time during which the skin has been in contact with the source of heat. Hot solids or liquids are the most common causes of burns. Sliding down a rope, chemicals, electricity, and such agents as ultraviolet lamps, X-rays, and even sunshine also cause particular kinds of burns.

In first degree burns there is merely some reddening of the skin similar to that of mild sunburn. Second degree burns cause actual blistering of the skin: the skin over the blister has been completely killed. Third degree burns involve not only the skin itself, but also the tissues lying beneath it which are killed and charred.

Slight burns — except those caused by chemicals, X-rays, and unusual types of burning - can be treated by any one of several excellent ointments. These ointments, if they do not have to be applied is too large a skin surface, reduce the pain and aid the healing. They should not be used, however, if the burned surface extends over a wide area of the skin. They can do real harm in such burns rather than any good.

For severe burns, including second and third degree burns, the advice of a physician should be sought as soon as possible. Until he comes, it is wise not to do too much. Loose clothing should be cut away from the burned area, but if any is sticking, it should be left where it is and only the clothing around the burned area be cut away.

LEAVE BAD BURNS ALONE

If there is likely to be delay in the arrival of medical care for someone who has been severely burned, a warm compress soaked in tannic acid solution or strong tea can be placed on the burned area.

Large burned surfaces should not have greases, oils, or ointments put on them. These are difficult to remove, may produce pain, and often interfere with what the physician wishes to do later. Neither absorbent cotton nor iodine should be applied to the burn. Cotton will stick and injure the skin still more when it is removed later.

Burns caused by chemicals are best treated by washing the area immediately and continuously with large quantities of water until all traces of the chemical have been removed. Treatment of any kind of burn or scald, however, is like locking the stable door after the horse has been stolen: prevention is best.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Average Husband Is Flop By Soap Opera Standards

Radio soap operas, women's magazine fiction, and lending library love stories give women such a false picture of how a man behaves toward the woman he loves it's a wonder there aren't more dissatisfied wives than there are.

This fictitious husband who is held up as the answer to every woman's dreams seems to spend his life thinking in terms of his wife's happiness. He is sensitive to her moods, sympathetic when she is trying bravely to convince him that she doesn't need sympathy and that everything is really just dandy, and he is forever inventing little surprises calculated to make his wife say, "Roger, you darling."

The people who write the soap operas and the short stories and romantic novels beamed directly at women must know how women wish their men would treat them. For women lap up the stories and sigh over the heroes who are so unlike their own husbands.

JUST DOESN'T HAPPEN IN REAL LIFE

But it's kind of a shame to make women believe that such husbands are to be had in this world.

When Mamie's own Joe in real life answers her need for a sympathetic ear by tuning in the ball game a little louder, or is too busy earning a living for her to be spending his days thinking up little ways to surprise and please her, Mamie ought to know he's not an insensitive clod—he's just a typical husband.

But if she takes her soap operas and magazine stories seriously she is bound to wonder how she ever fell in love with such an unromantic, unfeeling, selfish lout.

No man knows what unreasonable competition he is up against unless he is acquainted with the husbands his wife meets through the radio, the lending library, and her women's magazines.

Only one amendment to the Constitution of the United States ever has been repealed, the 18th amendment, prohibition.

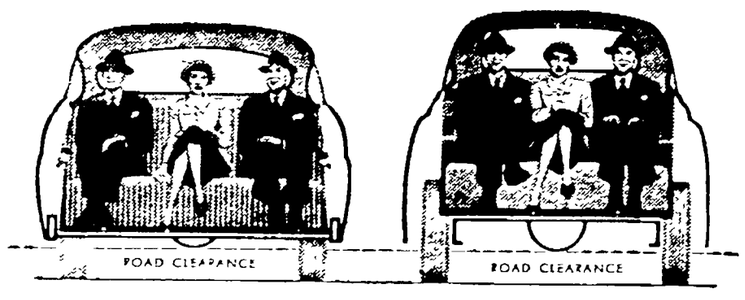
How Hudson's exclusive recessed floor brings you
America's Roomiest Car!



HUDSON
Recessed floor ("step-down" design) brings the space between frame members, which is wasted in other cars, into Hudson's passenger compartment. This results in America's lowest center of gravity (and full road clearance), while providing more head room and seating room than any other car.
OTHER CARS
Floor is on top of the frame, so the vital space between frame members is not available for passenger use. The result is a higher center of gravity and either a high roof line or insufficient head room. Seats are narrower, passenger space is reduced.
WHAT a wonderful difference Hudson's exclusive recessed floor makes! Among other advantages, it provides more room than in any other car!
Hudson seat cushions are up to 12 inches wider than those in cars of greater outside dimensions. You'll find the most head room in any automobile. Even door and window controls are recessed for more elbow room!
Won't you accept our invitation to see Hudson—to discover how this new way to build automobiles makes a greater share of over all size available for passenger room and comfort than is possible in any other car.

'THE PINES' DRIVE-IN THEATRE NEARLY READY—The 'Pines Drive-In' movie theatre, directly across from White Pines State park, will officially open next Friday night, it was announced today. Admission to the first night's show at the Drive-In will be free to all-comers. The Drive-In is one of the most beautiful in the middle west, being finished off with pine saplings. The above view is taken from the far end of the theatre and shows many of the sound posts, the projection booth, ramps, and concession stand.

Servicemen Protected by Relief Act

Washington, July 15—(AP)—Servicemen still are protected against arbitrary mortgage foreclosures, evictions, garnishments of pay and other civil court actions.

A spokesman for the Veterans Administration told a reporter today the agency is getting hundreds of calls from worried men and women now in military service.

Rights Extended

"The soldiers and sailors civil relief act of 1940 is in full force," he said. "Sections of the act nullified by the July 25, 1947, proclamation of termination of the war were reinstated by the draft act of 1948. In the draft act of 1950 they were extended to July 9, 1951."

The act applies to all members of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, and to all Public Health Service officers detailed with the Army or Navy.

It applies to all who are on active duty with any branch, as well as to those taking training or education under supervision of the United States, preliminary to induction into military service.

The law provides that the court appoint an attorney to protect the interest of a serviceman who is absent from a court action.

The court may stay the action, or stay execution of any order of judgment against a person on military duty, if it is found that the serviceman has a meritorious or legal defense or that his civil rights may be prejudiced by his military service.

Provides "Stay"

Thus the law provides for a stay for the period of military service and three months afterwards, against:

1. Attachment of garnishment of property, money or debts in the hands of another.

2. Eviction from premises renting for not more than $8 a month and used chiefly for dwelling purpose by the serviceman's wife, children or dependents. Defense officials may order an allotment of the serviceman's pay to be applied against rentals.

3. Repossession, for non-payment of instaliments, of purchased property.

4. Enforced collection of property taxes falling due during military service.

Prohibits Forfeits

The law also prohibits the forfeiting of homesteading and or mining or mineral leases for absence of failure to make required improvements, in the case of persons on military duty.

Under another provision, the VA will pay the premiums on commercial life insurance policies of servicemen, on policies up to face value of $10,000. The policyholder will be required to repay VA for this service after he leaves military duty.

Deaths

ROBERT YOST

Robert Yost, 72, died Thursday in Chicago. He was the son of the late Philip and Elizabeth Yost.

Mr. Yost was born February 13, 1878, in Alsace-Lorraine but made his home the last 25 years with a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koehle, Chicago.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Sophie Marint, Dixon, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be at the Preston funeral home Monday at 2 o'clock with the Rev. C. L. Wagner, Immanuel Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

The body will arrive here tonight.

BERT WOODFORD

Bert Woodford, formerly of Dixon, died Monday at his home in Buffalo, New York.

Funeral services were held Friday in Buffalo.

Two Chicago Detectives Die in Fight

Chicago, July 15—(AP)—A young Negro, wounded and armed with a .38 caliber revolver, was captured by police yesterday and admitted slaying two veteran city detectives in a gun fight.

Police trapped the youth, Bernie Davis, 21, in a closet of a third floor flat four hours after the gun battle with the detectives in his west side flat.

Admits Shooting

"Don't shoot. I'm the man you're looking for. I shot the two policemen," officers quoted Davis as saying as he climbed from a closet shelf, his arms raised over his head.

Three detectives seized Davis. They took him from the flat, some three miles from the scene of the shooting, to the state's attorney's office. Officials said Davis in a signed statement admitted shooting the detectives.

Later Davis, who was shot in the right knee in the gun fight, reenacted the shooting in his flat at 2343 Maypole avenue.

State's Attorney John A. Boyle said two charges of murder will be filed against Davis today. He was held overnight in the Bridewell city jail hospital.

The two detectives, Edward T. Crowley, 42, and Donald E. McCormick, 39, members of the robbery detail, each were shot three times. They died shortly after they were brought to the Cook County hospital.

Crowley, the father of three children, was a brother of Superior Judge Wilbert Crowley. He had been a policeman for 13 years and had won 10 creditable mentions. McCormick, who was single, joined the force in 1935.

The detectives had gone to Davis' home to question him in connection with a $500 robbery of a loan office in Weirton, W. Va., last Wednesday.

A third detective, Patrick Driscoll, had remained in the squad car.

Boyle said Davis, in his statement admitted some 15 or 20 loan company robberies in Chicago since Jan. 1, and attempted to hide when the detectives came to his home. They found him in a closet in his underwear. As he was dressing, Boyle said Davis related, he reached under a cushion of a couch on which he was sitting with Crowley, drew out a revolver and some money and offered Crowley $15. "Take it and go away and forget about it," Davis said he told Crowley.

Then, he said, McCormick fired two shots at him. He returned McCormick's fire, the officer falling to the floor in the hall. Crowley then fired twice at him, Davis said, and he directed his shots at Crowley. Then, Davis added, he ran down the hall and out of the house.

Driscoll ran to the flat and found the officers fatally wounded, their empty guns beside them.

Scores of detectives joined in the search of the west side district for the slayer. A tip led them to the building at 1080 West 14th street where Davis' mother-in-law lives. He was not found in her second floor flat but in a third floor apartment of the building.

cers said the first 300 men to report for draft physical examinations will be handled in Chicago July 24. The men will be drawn from Chicago selective service boards 12 and 22.

Navy Enlistments Up

Navy Lt. George Gilmore said twice the number of men normally expected during a July week are signing on for a Navy hitch. He said the Chicago Navy Recruiting Office enlisted 122 men so far this week. He said the office runs from as far north as Oshkosh, Wis., south as far as Springfield, Ill., Kalamazoo, Mich., on the east, and Davenport, Ia., on the west.

The lieutenant said Navy enlistments have been steadily rising since the Korean war and that the trend is expected to continue.

As for army draft, candidates will be examined either in Chicago or St. Louis, depending upon the location of their hometowns.

Transportation, food and lodging will be furnished by local draft boards to the men called for physicals.

Local draft boards will tell the men whether they have passed or flunked the physical exam.

Report Auto Industry Ready For War Effort

By DAVID J. WILLKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, July 15—(AP)—The auto industry right now has no armament work growing out of the Korean war.

It is ready to put all its industrial might into a war job if the occasion requires. But it first must know precisely what its various plants will be asked to build.

Production Goes On

Until that time the car manufacturers are proceeding with preparations for 1951 model car introductions later this year as originally scheduled.

Such are the replies of virtually every automobile maker to numerous inquiries as to what effect the Asiatic situation may have on their peacetime production programs.

Plants Surveyed

It is true that just about every automobile plant has been surveyed to determine what kind of arms production it best is fitted for. It is also true the closest possible liaison is being maintained between auto industry and military procurement.

But, industry executives say, what eventually is needed may be entirely different from what lessons of the last war might indicate.

Out of all the preliminary studies and the experiences following Pearl Harbor would come a speedier conversion than was possible in the early days of the last war.

Report U. S. to Help Iran Prepare for War

Tehran, Iran, July 15—(AP)—Premier Gen. Ali Razmara said yesterday the United States has agreed to equip Iran's army for defensive mountain fighting.

The equipment, he said, will include infantry arms, light mountain artillery and other materiel. It will be worth from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, and will start arriving in about a month.

center of the Kum river line. But evidently American forces there were holding.

Reds in Boats

Small arms in the hands of U. S. soldiers repelled three attempted crossings by Communists in boats. An attempted crossing Friday which the Americans smashed was made by about a company of Red soldiers trying to walk across the ruins of a blown bridge.

The Reds lost heavily in sharp artillery and small arms duels.

The first crossing was made about 20 miles northwest of Taejon. Taejon was the provisional capital of South Korea after Seoul fell.

The Reds, some wearing American fatigues, attacked in overwhelming force. They overran one American artillery unit. There was no indication of the fate of the artillerymen.

Earlier General MacArthur said the American and South Korean forces were withdrawing before superior forces. He said they were fighting rearguard actions awaiting reinforcements.

sector. The South Koreans were holding their own in this battle Moore said in a field headquarters dispatch.

Moore said there was relatively little fighting during the day around the Sangjyo foothold seized by the Reds. Some of these waded the shallow river to reach the south side, where they held on tenaciously.

The Red bridgehead was establishing troops carrying considerable equipment and covering an extensive area.

Some estimates, Moore said, were that between 1,000 and 2,000 foot soldiers made the initial crossing.

They apparently spread rapidly over an extensive area.

There was little available information on the situation in the

Two Writers Bounced Out Of Korean War

"This is a damned useless war." Echols was reminded soldiers on all fronts in World War II made similar comment. He agreed.

Colonel Echols said there was no question of security or no factual inaccuracies in Lambert's dispatches.

He did not explain why the notification was made so late that the Associated Press Bureau here had difficulty getting a replacement for Lambert in Korea. Neither would the public information officer reveal what officer originated the action. He said "A full report has been made to Washington."

The United Press office here said it received a similar explanation for the ban against Kalischer.

The United Press office in Tokyo said Colonel Echols told it that Kalischer was being prohibited from returning to Korea because his stories gave "air and comfort to the enemy" and because "they made the Army look bad."

The bureau said it was told by Echols that it was his opinion General MacArthur's headquarters had taken action against Kalischer in a move to get all foreign correspondents to soft pedal the stories of the American defeat.

At no time had Col. Echols charged Kalischer with violating security or writing which were not true, the United Press Bureau spokesman said.

Lambert, whose dispatches have won wide play in newspapers all over the world, was threatened with expulsion from South Korea a few days ago.

In this instance, too, military authorities said there was no question of security or inaccuracy in his dispatches.

The action was dropped, however, when correspondents appealed to the commanding general and the incident was believed closed.

(Officials in Washington said at the time they found nothing objectionable in Lambert's dispatches.)

Both Lambert and Kalischer have been in the frontline so consistently that their capture was broadcast for a full day by the Communist radio at Pyongyang. Both, however, returned safely.

Lambert, during World War II, was a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. He served in the public information section and as such functioned some of the time as a military censor.

Merchants Lose in Milan Tourney ,9-0

SPOTLIGHT on SPORT

By MARSHALL JONES
Sports Editor

THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY Golf tournament opens today and continues through Sunday at the Oregon Country club . . . Seven outstanding Dixon golfers will constitute the Dixon Country club team . . . Tommy Sullivan, Ken Detweiler, Hank Henry, Frank Lessner, Bill Witzleb, Don Raymond and B. Buck will be in action after qualifying here last Sunday.

• • • •

THE SUNSET GOLF club of Mt. Morris is the defending champion . . . This club includes Jim Lamb, Bud Dresner, Ray Arnold, Bud Polum, Ev Henderson and Glen Alter . . . Teams from Dixon, Oregon, Mt. Morris, Sterling, Princeton and Rochelle are expected to provide some rough competition.

• • • •

ROCKFORD MATRESS, OF THE Northern Illinois Baseball league, has lost the pitching services of Ray Dall Osto . . . The star chucker was a former West high ace and had been leading the Mattress nine all season . . . Reports are that he turned pro.

• • • •

THE MT. MORRIS RECREATION BOARD will open an invitational softball tourney Monday night, July 17, on the Mt. Morris field . . . The tourney runs through Friday night and includes such teams as the Oregon Myers Sand and Gravel club, Rochelle Melody, Milledgeville Merchants, Freeport Merchants, Mt. Morris Acker and Thomas, Belvidere Nor-Bar and the Savanna Merchants.

• • • •

THE KISHWAUKEE INVITATIONAL amateur golf tournament opens July 19 at the Kishwaukee Country club in DeKalb . . . 36 holes of medal play will open at 8:30 a. m. . . . The meet is restricted to members of invited club with handicaps of 12 or less . . . Most of the local clubs have been asked to take part in the big meet.

THE WHITE SOX MAY name a new manager this fall . . . At least that is what Harry Grayson, sports editor for NEA Service reports . . . He guesses it will be Charley Dressen, now managing Oakland of the Pacific Coast league . . . Dressen is a tremendous hit on the west coast where he succeeded Casey Stengel when the latter moved up to the Yanks.

• • • •

DRESSEN IS HIGHLY regarded by General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago Americans . . . They were together with the Reds for four years . . . This is Dressen's second campaign away from the Yankees and Grayson thinks he retains a fresh slant on the American league.

Inverness Golf Tourney Has Tightest Standings in History

By FRITZ HOWELL

Toledo, O., July 15—(AP)—Standings in the 13th Inverness $15,000 four-ball matches—tightest in the best-ball event's history—were due for a jumbling today as the high-ups met the low-downs.

At the end of three of the seven match play rounds between the eight twosomes of top-flight professionals, four pairs boasted "plus" score and four were "minus" for their efforts. Today's slate, although arranged long before the tourney opened, pits a "minus" against a "plus" in every instance.

Under the Inverness scoring system a team gets a plus for each hole it finishes ahead of a foe through 18 holes, and the loser gets a similar minus. Scores are carried over.

Oliver, Harrison Lead

Pudgy Porky Oliver of Seattle and slow-talking Ditch Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., were out front with a plus three at the end of three rounds, but just a point behind were the San Snead-Jim Ferrier and Lloyd Mangrum-Cary Middlecoff combinations, the latter the hottest thing in the tourney.

Lloyd and Cary ripped 19 strokes off par in yesterday's 36-hole jaunt but picked up only six points. They whipped Jimmy Demaret and Jack Burke, four up, with a blistering 62 (par is 71) and came right back for a 61 to take two points from Chick Harbert and Bob Hamilton.

Birdie Battle

In the birdie battle—the team which gets the most birds also gets an added $250—Mangrum and Middlecoff pace the pack with 23. Lloyd snaring 12 and Cary 11. They are two ahead of Harrison and Oliver.

Most surprising team in the fray is that pair of North Carolina stalwarts, Clayton Heafner and Johnny Palmer. Although Heafner has contributed only three birdies in 54 holes, the twosome is still in the thick of the fight, four points off the pace. They could pick those up with a two-up victory over the leaders. Palmer has counted 11 birdies as the pair won a one-up victory, lost another two down, and broke even in a third.

The standings (with four rounds still to go):

Harrison-Oliver plus 3, Snead-Ferrier, plus 2, Mangrum-Middlecoff plus 2, Hass Hawkins plus 1, Heafner-Palmer minus 1, Harbert-Hamilton minus 1, Ransom-Alexander minus 2, Demaret-Burke minus 4.

Chicago Cubs Drop 1-0 Tilt To Brooklyn

Chicago, July 15—(AP)— The Chicago Cubs let the ladies down yesterday as they lost the second game of their series with the Brooklyn Dodgers, 1-0, at Wrigley Field.

A tremendous ladies day crowd of 42,043 saw the Dodgers' 22-year-old right hand pitcher, Erv Palica, shut out Chicago on five hits. Not a Cub runner reached second until the ninth inning when Andy Pafko doubled.

It was Palica's second start after 22 relief appearances.

Bob Rush gave up eight hits in as many frames for the Cubs. The Dodgers picked up their run in the seventh, mixing a walk and a single by Gene Hermanski with a forceout.

Johnny Klippstein hurled the ninth and held the visitors from Flatbush to a single.

FIGHTS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Rudy Garcia, 125, Los Angeles, stopped Harold Dade, 125½, Chicago, 1.

NEW ORLEANS—Tommy Campbell, 137½, Rock Island, Ill., stopped Gene Burton, 143, New York, 2.

BROOKLYN (Coney Island)—Tony Pellone, 145½, New York, outpointed Adrien Morgan, 146, France, 8.

Tommy Armour, winner in 1927, was the last foreign-born golfer to capture the U. S. Open golf championship.

Only three amateurs have won the U. S. Open golf championship—Francis Ouimet, Bob Jones and Johnny Goodman.

Simmons Leaves Phils for Camp On August 1st

Philadelphia, July 15—(AP) — Curt Simmons, the $65,000 bonus pitcher who made good, won't be around to help the Philadelphia Phillies in their pennant drive during the first two weeks of August.

Instead of taking his turn on the pitching mound, young Curt will be on duty with the 108th Field Artillery battalion of the 28th Division at Indiantown Gap, Pa., from July 29 to August 12.

The Phils now are one game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals and Simmons, a 21-year-old left-hander from Egypt, Pa., leads the team's pitchers in victories with 11 and in strikeouts.

DUBLIN—Australian Ossie Pickworth won the Irish Open golf championship on the Royal Dollymount course with 287.

Lindquist, United Take Easy City Wins

Loop Leaders Blast Foes in Five Innings

Two one-sided contests were played in the City league at Reynolds Field last night. Lindquist knocked off Ashton by a 10-0 margin and United Cigar preserved its undefeated record with a 16-2 victory over Raynors.

Eddie Poore allowed the Ashton club just one single. Gates, Ashton center fielder, singled in the third inning to take away Poore's bid for a no-hitter.

A walk to Cooperrider and Alexander's single put two Lindquist men on base in the first. McGraham popped out and Cooperrider came home.

The third inning put the game more safely into the Lindquist pocket. Poore singled and Glessner sent him home with a triple. Glessner came in on an infield out.

A terrific first inning was all that United Cigar needed to put the Raynor tilt away. Twelve runs, in all, crossed the plate before the side was retired. Hahn and Uher collected two singles apiece in this frame. There were six hits, four errors and two fielder's choices, all leading to runs.

Flash Fordham had things well under control with a three-hit performance. There was never any doubt as to which way the game would go after Raynor fell apart in the first inning.

Jerry the First, 1950 winner, is the only repeat victor in the history of the $50,000 Golden West Pace, held annually at Santa Anita.

POWER DIVE — Outfielder Gene Hermanski of the Dodgers plunges headlong into home plate, but is tagged out by Pitcher Larry Jansen in the New York Polo Grounds. The Giants' hurler took a short relay from Catcher Wes Westrum, after Tookie Gilbert had fumbled the throw-in on Carl Furillo's fly to center field.

Wiremen Visit Blackhawks at Rockford Park

The Reynolds Wire baseball team travels to Rockford Sunday to meet the Blackhawk Athletic club in the crucial game of the season for both Northern Illinois league nines.

The contest is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m. at St. Edward's field in Rockford. The diamond is located at 3000 11th street, it was reported here.

Dixon has lost only one league contest. Blackhawk A. C. also has one loss, but Reynolds has five wins compared to seven for the home club.

Don Bakkelund, Rockford's top baseball pitcher, will be on the mound for the Blackhawks. Dixon's choice will be either Bud Kerley, who whipped the Famous Chicagoans the last time out, or Armand Riopelle. Riopelle operates in left field regularly but may be called on to use some of his port-side slants.

Other league contests send the 11th Street Merchants to Polo Maroon country and South Beloit to Rockford Mattress.

Elks Bring Net Meet to Dixon Courts Today

The Elks' Club District Tennis tourney opens in Dixon today. Some of the outstanding junior netters in the area will be seen in competition on the South Side courts.

The tournament is composed of players 18 years of age and younger. The championship round will be played about 3 p.m. today.

Floyd Acker, Dixon, is scheduled to meet Harold Horstmeyer, Freeport, in a semi-final singles match. Al Newcomer, Dixon, plays Jack Beckstrom, Rockford, in the other singles tilt.

Acker and John Weitzel play Horstmeyer and Clarno of Freeport in the first doubles meet.

Newcomer and Jim Boedeker, Dixon, tangle with Hilt and Barry of Janesville, Wisconsin, in the other doubles contest.

Beiers' Tennis Club has an off date this Sunday and will not see action.

Bob Lemon Wins Number 13 By Whipping Yankees, 5-1

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland is coming strong with Bob Lemon, top pitcher in the majors, showing the way.

Good pitch, good hit. That's the story of Lemon, high man on the Tribe totem pole.

Success of the Indians' mid-summer pennant drive hinges on Rapid Robert, the second. No longer is Bobby Feller the key man with the Tribe.

When Lemon works, Manager Lou Boudreau feels he has 10 men on his side. The former infielder is an extra man on defense, one of the best fielding pitchers in the game. At bat, he's a dangerous long distance slugger with a .278 average, three home runs and 14 runs batted in.

Years ago they decided Lemon couldn't hit enough to make the majors as an infielder or outfielder. But Tommy Byrne will carry the bruises of the three-run homer he hit last night for the rest of the season. It was the 18th off the Yankee lefty.

Lemon became the first major leaguer to win 13 games this season with a neat three-hit job against the New York Yankees last night. The three-run homer in the eighth was just an added frill he didn't need it.

Coming at the start of Cleveland's all-important third eastern trip, it was a vital 5-1 win for the Tribe. They trail Detroit by five games but now are only a half game behind the second place Yanks. Since the Indians hit their stride June 14, they have won 22 of 30. And Lemon has copped six of seven, the last five in a row.

Detroit took advantage of the Yankee loss to stretch its lead to 4½ games on Freddie Hutchinson's 2-0 job against Washington. It was the Tigers' seventh straight win at Griffith Stadium against a club they have trouble beating at home. Hutchinson allowed only one runner to reach third base and walked none in pitching his 10th victory.

Sox Lose, 13-1

The run-happy Boston Red Sox came up with their second 11-run inning of the season while overwhelming Chicago, 13-1. Ellis Kinder's five-hitter was his 13th straight over the White Sox and his seventh win.

St. Louis and Philadelphia remained in a last-place tie by splitting a twilight-night doubleheader. The Browns' reliever Clarence Marshall gave Philadelphia the first game, 3-2, when he walked Sam Chapman on a 3-2 count with the bases full in the ninth. Homers by Roy Sievers, Owen Friend and Don Lenhardt carried the Brownies to a 5-2 second game win.

Cards Top Phils

The Cardinals tightened the National league race, drawing within one game of Philadelphia with a 4-2 victory over the Phils. It may have been a costly win for St. Louis because Stan Musial left the game with a wrenched knee and pitcher Harry Brecheen retired with a sore left arm.

Bill Howerton was the big gun of the Card attack that ruined "Robin Roberts Night" for the young Phil pitcher. Fans from his home town of Springfield, Ill., gave him a wrist watch before the game. Then the Cards gave him the works. It was the fourth loss to 10 wins for the All-Star game starter. Howerton drove in three runs with a homer and two singles, breaking a 2-2 tie in the sixth with his home run.

Crandall Hits

Rookie catcher Del Crandall, getting a second chance because of Walker Cooper's ankle injury, drove in four runs with a homer and double in Boston's 6-4 edge over Cincinnati.

Ralph Kiner socked his 25th homer, a double and triple but his Pittsburgh club lost to New York, 7-5. The Giants scored all seven runs in the first inning to snap the Pirates' three-game win streak.

ANOTHER DIMAGGIO—Bartolo Joe DiMaggio, a second cousin of the famous baseball family, takes his cut in the batting cage of the Concord, N.C., Weavers. Signed by Washington, young DiMaggio was farmed to the Class D North Carolina State League.

Junior Legion Takes Day Off On This Sunday

Coach Orville Brundle wishes to announce that there will be no American Legion Jr. baseball this Sunday. It is an open date on the Dixon schedule. Play resumes with Dixon at Sterling next week.

Two Big Games Feature Sunday Night Softball

Sunday night softball is expected to furnish the best entertainment of the year at Reynolds Field this weekend. Two top-notch games have been scheduled and the rest is up to the weather.

The feature contest has the Freeport VFW ready to match power with the regular Dixon All-Stars. The opener should provide as many thrills since the Dixon United Cigar team will play Walnut. The first game is set to start about 7:30 p. m.

Vernon "Bullets" Kirk is slated to be on the mound for the home All-Stars. He knows the Freeport club well after having played in the same league for some time. Fans will be alert for some personal rivalry.

Yesterday's Sports in Brief

RACING

NEW YORK—Khaki ($17.60) won Travers Island handicap on Empire City-at-Jamaica program.
CHICAGO—Take Ten ($6.20) rewarded favorite players by winning Batavia purse at Arlington Park.
BOSTON—Power Drunk ($7.60) won the six furlong Garden House purse at Suffolk Downs.

BOXING

NEW YORK—The New York Boxing Managers Guild accepted a television-radio offer from the International Boxing club and ended its 11 day boycott of IBC Promotions.

HARNESS RACING

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—Proximity ($2.60) won her ninth straight race of the year, capturing the Chatham free-for-all trot to increase her near-record lifetime earnings to $200,356.

Scheduled for Muscatine at Milan Tonight

Milan—(Special)— Milan Invitational officials called the Dixon Merchant-Coal Valley baseball game at the end of four innings here last night. The reason given was the lack of time. Coal Valley led 9-0 at the time after the Merchants had blown sky high.

Lowell Smallwood left the game in the third inning with a sore arm and Chuck Christiansen was called in to pitch. With men on base, Christiansen struck out Coal Valley's first baseman. Two men reached him for walks and then a hit and two errors accounted for Coal Valley runs.

The Dixon game was delayed by a 14-inning contest between Silvis VFW and Milan Firemen. The game was won by Les Arnould's Silvis club, 7-5.

The Dixon Merchants are due to return to the tourney tonight for a game with Muscatine's Red Sox. If the Merchants can be pulled together long enough to produce some of the ball they are capable of, a good game is promised.

The Merchants are due to face the strong league-leading Woosung nine in Big Six play here Sunday. Ron Sitter is expected to fire the ball for Dixon. Woosung's pitcher will be Bob Schryver.

Classic Race Draws Eleven Top Horses

Chicago, July 15—(AP)—Your Host, Kentucky Derby favorite and king of the California winter season, and Oil Capitol dominate a bulky field of 11 racing today in the $77,875 Arlington Classic.

Winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby, Your Host probably will be installed at odds of 5-2. Oil Capitol, star of the Florida season, is expected to go to the post a 2-1 favorite.

The lineup for the mile and a quarter race represents nearly every top 3-year-old now campaigning. The current 1-2 leaders of the division, Middleground and Hill Prince, are recuperating from hard spring competition.

If all 11 go to the post, the winner's share will be $59,550, with $10,000 for second, $4,000 for third and $2,500 as fourth money.

The 22nd running of the rich event, with a sunny, warm afternoon forecast, is expected to attract a crowd of 35,000.

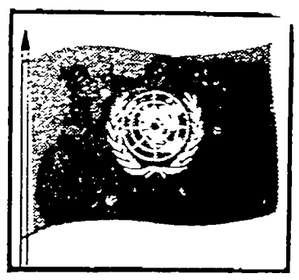
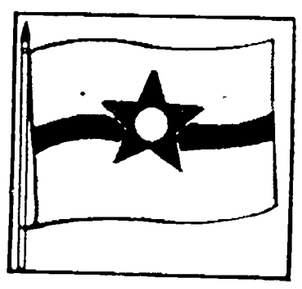
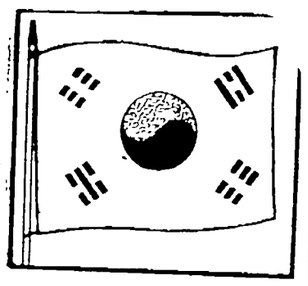
U. S. "YAK-YAK"—Laughing at you, from Burbank, Calif., is the new jet "Yak-Yak," America's answer to the Soviet Yak fighter encountered in Korea. A product of the topsy-turvy state of the world, the creature is actually an upside-down view of the nose of a Lockheed T-33 twin seat jet trainer. For a better view, turn the picture upside down. Any way you look at it, the Yak-Yak faces deadly serious business ahead.



UNITED NATIONS FLAG. Light blue, emblazoned in white with the UN's emblem of a world between olive branches.



NORTH KOREAN FLAG. It's a red star—similar to Russia's—and banner on a yellow background.



SOUTH KOREAN FLAG. The red and blue circle and dashes, on white field, are replete with Oriental symbolism.

Even the Blind and the Halt Want to Help in Korean War!

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)--Even the blind and the halt among America's veterans want to help their country in the Korean crisis

Disability hasn't dimmed their sense of patriotic duty.

This observation comes from a lady who works for the Veterans Administration in Boston. She wrote me a letter on how veterans feel about the present situation in the Far East, and I think it is worth passing on, because I feel it is typical

"Here in Boston" she wrote, "We have a number of amputees, several blind veterans and others with more or less serious disabilities, helping other veterans with their problems We also have many men who have seen service in both world wars.

Hate the Idea

"Most of their hate the idea of more fighting Most of them feel that war is not inevitable. Not one of the men or women I've talked to wants to go back in service, if it's possible to avoid it.

"However, they all think that Korea is a testing ground, and that the United States is perfectly right in backing up its promises with force Most of them feel that if it develops into World War III—well, better now than later

"Most of them are ready to go back into service, if the government says they're needed—and that includes the amputees and the blind vets, who feel they can be of use behind the lines, just as they are of importance now to the Veterans Administration because of their training and experience and because of their understanding of the difficulties encountered by other disabled veterans.

War No Picnic

"The fact that these men—and women—are not rushing to recruiting offices to sign up for another hitch doesn't mean a thing. Most of us have responsibilities that we didn't have ten years ago We're all older, and we know only too well that war isn't a picnic. That also, by the way, seems to be the attitude of most of the kids who are signing up

"The reason a lot of them don't follow the stories of the Korean fighting too closely is that they know too much about fighting—firsthand They don't talk about the news for the same reason a family watching one of its members die of cancer doesn't talk too much about the victim's agony.

They Know War

"It doesn't mean a lack of sympathy or interest—just a realization that talk is cheap, and action is what counts"

I think this woman's letter—she requested that I not use her name—sums up the way most Americans, old or young, feel today about Korea.

There is a great yearning for peace, a great wish that the issue raised by the North Korean invasion had never arisen. But there is also a full-hearted determination to see that issue through, because what we stand for as a people is at stake.

Somehow, I wish Joe Stalin in the Kremlin could read that Boston woman's letter and understand the sentiment behind it It might give him something to ponder—an insight into how the American democracy operates.

The Chinese pay $100 a pound for hog gallstones, which they use for medicinal purposes.

Crowd of 50,000 at Coast Square Dance

Santa Monica, Calif., July 15--(AP)--Santa Monica, celebrating her 75th birthday, staged the world's largest square dance last night, and 8,000 costumed performers do-si-doed, dug for the clam and swung their partners as 26 callers took turns at the amplifier

A crowd of 50,000 watched from grandstands, parkways and sidewalks. The dance floor was a newly-laid pavement at Wilshire boulevard and Ocean avenue.

OLDSMOBILE ROCKETS TO VICTORY
IN GRUELING MEXICAN ENDURANCE RUN!

STOCK CAR OUTPERFORMS 131 OTHER CARS IN 2178-MILE PAN-AMERICAN ROAD TEST!

The "Rocket 88" proves it's really great! Old-mobile's spectacular action star sweeps first place honors in one of the longest, most hazardous durability tests on record – 2,178 miles over the new Pan-American Highway! Here's undisputed evidence unmistakable proof of the peak performance and remarkable endurance built into the "Rocket" Old-mobile. Try the thrilling "Rocket" ride yourself make your date with a "Rocket 88" today!

Hershel McGriff, Portland, Oregon, flashes a winning smile after piloting his "88" to victory! 132 American and foreign cars entered, but only 53 finished the rugged run And three of the first ten and six of the first twenty were Oldsmobiles!
